DANA POINT

The Most Romantic Spot on the Coast

With its breathtaking coastal cliffs, beautiful ocean views and bountiful choices of things to do its no wonder Dana Point's motto is "Harboring the Good Life"! Our beach side community is best known for friendly businesses, famous beaches, fantastic restaurants, fun shopping and a multitude of outdoor actives to choose from and one of the largest and most magnificent harbors in Southern California!

The Dana Point Harbor is a must see with over 30 retail shops and restaurants, kayak and jet ski rentals, fishing charters, harbor and coastal cruises, boat rentals and private sailing trips, dolphins and whale watching, snorkeling, scuba diving surfing and more including the renown Ocean Institute open to the public on weekends, for schedules please visit www.ocean-institute.org. For additional information and resources at Dana Point Harbor please visit www.danapointharbor.com

Historically Dana Point, the city perched on the high bluffs overlooking the harbor and the coastline—the spot that R. H. Dana called "the most romantic spot on the coast" in his book Two Years Before the Mast. Dana Point is named after this famous author who told the story of the hide shipments from the California of the early 1800's to the east coast for the leather goods trade. Those were the days of vast ranchos around the missions that provided the ship loads of hides. This trade was dependent upon the local Native Americans who worked at the missions and ranchos. This culture is the heritage of our area.

Early efforts at developing Dana Point as a city began in the 1920's, that booming era of the beginning car culture, the glamorous talkies, new found wealth, and general optimism for our future. The most successful efforts were made in Dana Point by a Los Angeles syndicate headed by S. H. Woodruff, developer of Hollywoodland in Los Angeles and, in Capistrano Beach, a development started by Ned Doheny, son of the oil baron, Edward Doheny. Both groups built houses and commercial buildings but the developer's dreams were soon shattered by the Great Depression of the 1930's

All progress in Dana Point stopped until the 1960s when new housing was beginning to be built in various areas of the city and surrounding communities. A movement soon began within those communities to create a city that could govern itself. Eventually, the three communities of Capistrano Beach, Monarch Beach

(formerly a part of Laguna Niguel) and Dana Point came together to create an entity large enough to become a city and finally did so on January 1, 1989 to create a "destination resort" atmosphere that is enjoyed by the community as well as millions of visitors yearly.

HARBOR WALKING TOUR

Whale Watching & Sportfishing
Docks - Dana Wharf is the headquarters for Sportfishing trips as well as Whale Watching and Coastal Cruises from Ocean Adventures.

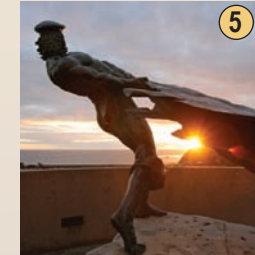

Harbor Shops - Over 30 retail shops and restaurants at Dana Wharf, Mariners Village and Mariners Alley. Gifts, Fine Dining and Fashions are available year round.

Heritage Park - Enter up the stairs from Dana Point Harbor Dr. across from the Mariners Village parking lot. City of Dana Point's Free Summer Concert Series location

Bluff Top Trail - Corner of Violet Lantern and El Camino Capistrano. This beautiful walk along the soaring cliffs above the harbor takes you through the historic arches are all that remain of the foundations of a grand hotel that 1920's developer Woodruff planned for his Mediterranean village but never completed due to the great depression.

Hide Drougher Statue - Depicts how hides purchased from the Mission San Juan Capistrano where tossed off the bluffs to waiting ships like the Pilgrim. The were then transported to Boston and elsewhere in ships like the Pilgrim to be processed for shoes and other leather goods.

Historic Gazebo - Built in 1924 by an early developer to provide potential lot buyers a view of the coastline. A walkway descended from this point to the beach where a picnic pavilion was built to entertain those buyers.

Headlands - Stunning coastal trails. New Interpretive Center with displays about the Natural History of this protected landform. Trails connect with Strands Vista Park Beach access where you can ride a funicular down to the beach!

Tall ships - Replica of the Pilgrim, the ship that Richard Henry Dana crewed on from Boston as part of the hide trade in the 1830s. This ship and the Spirit of Dana Point are used by the Ocean institute as educational tools for students and adults.

Ocean Institute - Educational facility that serves over 100,000 students annually through their many programs on marine science, environmental issues and maritime history. Open to the public on weekends.

Dana Point Marine Refuge - Explore the tide pools and hike along the base of the headlands formed by underwater landslides millions of years ago. Numerous caves and unique views await.

Pier and Baby Beach - A still water beach is maintained in the harbor for children. A colorful tile wall with individually painted tiles was created by and continues to be added to by the Dana Point Historical Society. And, just beyond is the Orange County Sailing & Events Center—a facility that offers sailing lessons, kayaking, outrigger canoe activities and room rentals for meetings and special events

Dana Island - Cross the bridge to the statue of Richard Henry Dana. Relax and watch boats enter and leave the harbor. The Harbor was built in the late 1960s by constructing the breakwaters to enclose the harbor. The water was pumped out, the landfill completed, the bridge built and boat basins constructed. It now contains 2000 boat slips.
